Craft city's "Man of Year"

State Sen. Archie Craft was named Whitesburg's "man of the year" by the city Chamber of Commerce at the group's annual banquet Tuesday night.

Craft received a plaque from Fred Coffey, who was last year's "man of the year."

John Whisman, co-ordinator of area development for Kentucky, discussed the program. He said Kentucky would use the federal area redevelopment program as one of the tools in its own program. Whisman announced plans for setting up area development councils and said he hopes the next legislature will give them statutory basis.

New officers of the Chamber of Commerce installed included Cossie Quillen, president; Sanders Collins, vice president, and Martin Dawahare, secretary.

Dawahare, retiring president, reviewed briefly the chamber's activities this year.

Orval Hughes served as toastmaster.

Here is the citation concerning Craft read at the dinner by Coffey:

Archie Craft is a native Letcher Countian, having been born at Millstone, Kentucky. He is a graduate of Whitesburg High School and after receiving teacher's training from Pikeville, Georgetown and Morehead Colleges he taught for six years in the school of Letcher County. He understands the problems of labor because he has also worked as a miner.

Archie has been in the funeral business in Whitesburg since 1935 and through his courtesy, kindness and tireless efforts he has expanded that business until it now includes three modern up-to-date Funeral Homes in Letcher County. At the same time he has contributed generously of his time and money to all worthy activities of the town. He has encouraged and financially assisted several young people to further their education.

For several years, Archie Craft has been active in politics. He served seven years as Letcher County Coroner and was elected to the State Senate twice. He is still serving in the capacity of Senator. He is a member of the Legislative

Schools all over county prepare for opening day

All over Letcher County this week, school personnel, pupils and parents were preparing for the beginning of the 1961-62 school year.

Classes actually will start on Aug. 28, but high school pupils and some others will register at varying times next week.

Here are the schedules for the Whitesburg and Fleming-Neon High Schools, as furnished to us this week. (Jenkins pupils received letters of instruction on registration.)

Freshmen will register at Whitesburg High School at 9 a.m. next Thursday, August 24. Students riding busses are requested to wait at their regular bus stops for their bus as busses will run for freshmen about 15 minutes later than the regular run last year.

English books will be furnished to all students this year so freshmen are not to purchase any English books, Principal Jack M. Burkich said. Students are not to buy from their friends used general science or general mathematics books as these are new adoptions and are not in circulation, he added. They may be purchased at the high school after school begins. Freshmen may purchase Civics and Algebra I books that were used last year as the school is using these same books this year, Burkich said.

The Whitesburg high school faculty is looking forward to working with the largest freshmen class--370--in the history of the school, Burkich said. Many in this large freshmen class will be taking five subjects selected from this group: English I, General Math, Algebra I, French I, Home Ec. I, General Shop, Civics, Vocational Agriculture, and General Science.

School will begin on Monday, August 28, at 8:30 a.m. for all Whitesburg High School students.

Payne Gap road to be paved

The State highway Department will take bids next month for the blacktopping of the Payne Gap-Kona Road.

The bid advertisement appears in today's Mountain Eagle. The road has been graveled for several years but was allowed to lie unpaved until the base settled.

It already is in wide use.

A&P color ad is a "first"

On pages 6 and 7 of today's Mountain Eagle, you will find an A&P ad of which we're pretty proud. It's printed in three colors--red, blue and black--and to our knowledge is that first three color ad of its type in a weekly newspaper in Kentucky.

The photograph is "in register"--that is, it is printed in three colors, first red, then blue, then black, which combine to give the effects of lights and shadows you see in the final picture. All three steps involved in the printing are on display in the front window of The Mountain Eagle, in case anybody would like to take a look.

The ad was made possible by several things: our top-notch press and the switch to offset which we made a year ago this month, the continuing confidence of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company in the weekly newspaper as an advertising medium and A&P's willingness to experiment in The Mountain Eagle with color advertising.

We hope, of course, that our readers will look at the ad carefully and will respond to the offer it makes. And we hope they'll be proud of the "first" it represents.

QUITE A DAY--Nurses and doctors at the Fleming Clinic had their hands full--literally--as two sets of twins were born within less than four hours early Monday. The babies, all girls, were Donna Kay and Deborah Faye Hunsucker, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Hunsucker of Jackhorn, and Janie Kay and Jeanne Faye King, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Smiley King of Kite. The twins are shown in the arms of their mamas as their fathers look on--the Hunsuckers are on the left, the Kings on the right. The Hunsucker babies were weighed in at 5 pounds and 6 pounds, the Kings at 6 pounds, 12 ounces and 5 pounds, 4 ounces. Later the same, four more babies were delivered at the clinic. (Eagle photos).

STALLARDS HOLD ANNUAL REUNION ON CRAFT'S COLLEY

The children and other relatives of the late Elder James B. and Matilda Bentley Stallard gathered at the old home place on Craft's Colley Sunday for a memorial service and reunion. The homeplace is now the home of Harvey Stallard.

Elder Stallard, who died in 1947, was a preacher in the Old Regular Baptist Church for 45 years. He was associated with the church at Thornton. Besides preaching, he was a farmer, carpenter, blacksmith and wagon man. He often hauled goods from Norton and other places in Virginia into Letcher County by wagon, his children say.

Elder Stallard's parents, also born in Letcher County, were Harvey and Betsy Stallard. Harvey Stallard's parents came to Kentucky from Scott County, Va. Originally the Stallard family came from England.

All the sons of Elder Stallard except John are retired workers for the L&N railroad, with a total of 100 years of service for the railroad. John, who taught school for 16 years in Letcher County, has been in Louisville for the past 19 years. He works in the office of Seagram distillery.

"Granny Chrissy" Stallard, great grandmother of the group pictured here, lived to the age of 109 or 110, depending on which record you accept. The Stallards are inclined to believe 109.

An integral part of the memorial service was the singing of hymns in the lining out fashion which has been in use in the Regular Baptist Church since our forefathers arrived from Europe, where it also is still used today. Here Patton Taylor (third from right) is giving the lines, and the others are following him. The singers included (from left) Howard Adams, Dave Wagner, Astor Taylor, Patton Taylor, Alfred Adams and Sanford Keeton.

On buying clothes

When buying a new garment, check the seam allowance. Seams should have an allowance of at least five-eighths inch - one inch on side seams.

ELECT BEN A. ADAMS

As a candidate for jailer of Letcher County, I would like to make these statements.

I will be your jailer, and I personally will supervise the keeping of the jail and other county property.

I will personally supervise the care of all prisoners under my charge. They will have my advice and understanding in hope that they will have a better outlook on life when discharged. I definitely think that I can be worth something to those who are left in my charge.

Being your jailer will be a challenge for me.

I can and will perform the duties of your jailer.

If this is the type of county official you desire, please give me your support in November.

Byrd Adams reports on Letcherites in Detroit

DETROIT, Michigan--It was the 30th of July. A fairly hot day. The shade trees and green grass of River Rouge Park reminded one of the green hills of Kentucky. On this date a small group of Kentuckians were meeting for a picnic. It was roughly 500 miles from Whitesburg. The location: a metropolitan area whose pulse beat comes from automobiles that throb out a living for a quarter of a million workers in the Detroit vicinity.

In 1957, the KPL, representing primarily people from Knott, Perry and Letcher Counties, living in Michigan, was organized for the purpose of holding an annual reunion.

The steering committee members were Byrd Adams, president; Clyde Banks, first vice president; Bill S. Huffman, now mayor of Madison Heights, Mich., program vice president;

Thomas Hale, activities vice president; William L. Blair Jr., treasurer, and Mora Blair, secretary.

The first KPL reunion was held in Madison Heights that year. The second was held there again in 1958.

When Adams resigned as president the Kentuckians Club was formed with Clyde Banks as president. The club held a picnic in 1959.

A group of Kentuckians who want to re-organize the annual reunion met quietly the other day for the 1961 Kentucky Reunion.

There is no acting organization at present. This writer was informed a few weeks ago that a reunion was planned but did not know the location until the morning of the set date.

Plans are now to meet Sunday afternoon before Labor Day in the home of Mr. Kelly Caudill, 28652 Elmwood Street, Garden City, Mich., to set up an active organization for next year's reunion. Mr. Carrico, who is head of the Graves County, Kentucky, Reunion in Michigan, wants it to be organized on a former Kentuckian-state-wide basis with a leader for each county.

So, there will be much to debate and discuss on Sept. 3. Interested Kentuckians invited.

Mr. Caudill's phone number is GA 4-3836.

Sam Combs, formerly of Sasfras, who was injured in a serious accident in 1958, has just returned from another stay in the hospital.

By the way, if you know someone in Michigan who might like to get a copy of the Eagle, write

The Mountain Eagle, Box 190, Whitesburg, Ky. They promise me they will send them a complimentary copy.

Kentuckians, have you any news about Kentuckians in Michigan? Write: Byrd Adams, 15350 Bramell Street, Detroit 23, Michigan.

Brown-Watts marriage performed

The marriage of Miss Violet Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown of Orchard Branch, and Bernard Watts, son of Mrs. Georgeanne Watts Spencer of Line Fork, took place at 2 p. m. Saturday, Aug. 5, in the Mount Olivet Regular Baptist Church, Blackey.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Elder I. D. Back. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Linda Craft, of Florence, Ky., sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Peggy Ann Back and Sharon Back of Blackey. Shelby Gene Watts was his brother's best man. Ushers were William Curtis Collins and Larry Back.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Walters.

After a wedding trip to Dewey Lake, the couple will reside in Dayton, Ohio.

Household hints

When the tops of old peonies are about half dead, cut the plants to within 2 inches of the ground. Take the cut parts away and burn them to get rid of insects and diseases.

Newspapers and magazines will be conveniently at hand if you hang them over a curtain rod fastened to the window apron, wall or door. If hung under the window, use brackets that extend beyond the sill.

Ulvah residents attend association at Ashland

by Lovell Caudill

Last week Mrs. Jim Caudill and son Billy Ray and his wife, Martha Jane made a trip to Paintsville to visit the O. T. Brown family. While there they all attended the Northern New Salem Association of Regular Baptist Church in Ashland.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown have gained a new son-in-law. Their daughter, Violet, married Bernard Watts on August 5, at the Mt. Olivet Church in Blackey.

Billy Ray Caudill has returned to Indianapolis, Ind. to resume work after a two year term as Military Police in Ayer, Mass. His wife is visiting Lee and Annetta Breeding of Lexington. She will follow Bill in two weeks.

Jim Caudill is on two week's vacation. Last week the Caudills and Gobel Fields family of Red Star took their picnic baskets and enjoyed a day at Cumberland Falls.

We are very sorry to know that little Reta Blair of Jeremiah is in Mt. Mary Hospital after becoming ill at Big Leatherwood Church last Sunday. She is the daughter of Vernon and Vina Mae Blair.

Kelly Cornett and Carl Cornett of Line Fork section plan to lay tile in the near future.

Hassell Smith, Vernon Smith and Vernon Fields of Turkey Creek have installed tile this year.

Blanche Hogg of Roxanna plans to drain some land this year.

Watson Sexton of Rockhouse Creek informs me that the tiles he set were recently burned up and he plans to reset them in the spring of 1962.

The annual ninth area meeting of soil conservation district supervisors was recently held at Quicksand.

The board was well represented with R.B. Caudill, chairman; J.D. Maggard, vice chairman; Boyd Gilley and B.R. Adams members and Cecil Hensley, soil conservationist and Larry Caudill, a booster.

Lieutenant Governor Wilson W. Wyatt gave a good conservation talk to the group and many good ideas were expressed by the group as a whole.

The board recently met with the fiscal court to ask and were successful in getting their assistance in supporting and promoting soil conservation.

John H. Bentley of Payne Gap has 7 acres of sorghum alnum grass and much of it 7 feet 9 inches high.

Jess Eversole of Cumberland River has been fertilizing ponds for increased fish production.

He also plans to do some weeding of seedling later by spraying undesirable hardwood sprouts which are growing among the seedlings.

R.B. Caudill of Blackey is spraying honeysuckle with 245T. This is a good way to get rid of undesirable shrubbery.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

Dear Readers:

Who is the most adored and cherished woman in all America? According to the mail that has flooded my desk these past few weeks it's the mother-in-law.

It all started when a reader wrote to say she couldn't understand why the American mother-in-law was constantly down-graded, ridiculed, and scorned. Her mother-in-law, she announced, was "just lovely" and there must be others who are wonderful, too. Why don't I print a letter in praise of a mother-in-law for a change?

I told her I would do more than that. I offered a gold medal with an appropriate inscription to the person who wrote the best letter in praise of a mother-in-law.

The mail has been back-breaking, heart-warming and fascinating. The longest letter (30 handwritten pages) came from Eureka, Calif. The shortest letter came from New Orleans—(three words). "She's the most!"

Almost every letter topped a list of her sterling qualities with: "She minds her own business—she never interferes."

According to my mail, Buffalo has the greatest number of dearly-loved mothers-in-law. Des Moines has the fewest. Letters from women about "my husband's mother" outnumbered (eight to one) letters from men about "my wife's mother." Several teenagers wrote about a grandmother "who lives with us and is a wonderful mother-in-law and deserves a medal."

It was so difficult to decide which mother-in-law letter was the best that I selected two which I felt were the most deserving and I am awarding duplicate first prizes.

The gold medals have been mailed to the winners who wrote the letters which appear in today's paper. (I felt the writers of the letters should enjoy the thrill of presenting the medals.)

The medals are fashioned in gold, the size of a half dollar, with an overlay of gold braid. On one side is engraved "The Ann Landers medal for the world's best mother-in-law." On the other side, it is engraved "to . . . from . . ."

My warm thanks to the thousands who wrote. And to the winners, my heartiest congratulations.

Dear Ann Landers:

My mother-in-law is a devout Roman Catholic. I am not. She never spoke to me about changing my religion, nor did she suggest ways to improve my housekeeping or my cooking or how to raise my children.

She told me what to do only one time in my life—and that was six months after her son's death. She said, "Jennie, I don't want you to go through life alone. You should remarry."

Four years ago my father-in-law passed away. He wasn't well-to-do but he left a modest estate. My mother-in-law gave me the same share of his estate that her son and daughter received. Although my husband had been dead several years and I had remarried, she said "You are still my daughter-in-law."

The only time she ever refused me anything was shortly after she became widowed. I asked her to move in with me. She said, "Thanks a lot but one family under a single roof is plenty."

My mother-in-law deserves the highest praise that can be bestowed upon her. Her name is Mary Slazyk. She lives at 5924 South Richmond Street in Chicago. Thank you for giving me this opportunity to tell the world about this remarkable woman. JENNIE KAPISCHKE

Dear Ann Landers:

I was married in 1954. Neither my wife nor I realized at the time that my "social drinking" was just plain alcoholism.

For over four years my wife did her best to put up with me. Then she gave up and took the children and left. I can't say I blame her.

After that I really hit bottom. I ended up at the Kansas State Hospital in Osawatimie. I was a human wreck—no good to anybody. The only person who stood by me during those dark days was my mother-in-law. She wrote me four and five letters a week begging me to keep fighting. She said if I had faith in myself I could climb back up again and be a self-respecting human being. Her letters kept me alive. I learned during those horrible weeks that if just one person believes in you, you can make it back.

As soon as I got out of the hospital I joined Alcoholics Anonymous. I've been dry for almost six months now and I am determined to stay that way. My wife and I are still separated but I'm hoping for a reconciliation.

If anyone deserves a medal it's my mother-in-law.

She's had a hard life—still works every day as a waitress and takes care of an invalid son. Her name is Loueva Cunningham and she lives in Marshall, Missouri. STEPHEN YARSULIK, Kansas City, Kansas.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How to be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Women

Quite a treat!

FOR YOUR NEXT
COOKOUT, TRY
BARBECUED CHICKEN

If you haven't tried barbecued chicken, you don't know what a treat you're missing. A favorite with many Kentuckians, chicken is perfect for barbecuing outdoors for family and friends—and Dad may even offer to do the work.

What can you use for a grill or pit? Many types are available. For barbecuing only a few chickens, you can use four bricks turned on end with a rack from the kitchen stove on them. If you have one, you can use an electric rotisserie.

The best and most economical pits for small to medium size crowds are 55-gallon drums, split lengthwise. Each half makes a pit. Iron pipe can be welded to each corner for legs and cage wire welded to rods for a grill.

How about the fire? Charcoal is the ideal fuel for barbecuing chicken. About one pound of briquets will cook an average-size chicken in almost any kind of pit. Start the fire 20 to 30 minutes before time to start cooking the chicken; keep the briquets one layer deep. Adding the briquets will raise the temperature; sprinkling with water will lower it.

Always remember safety rules when lighting the fire and cooking the chicken. Use a long-handled brush for basting, and, if you turn the pieces individually, use long-handled tongs or forceps.

How much chicken will you need? Oven-ready broilers, weighing 2 or 3 pounds, are best for barbecuing. Allow one half chicken per person. Split the broilers in half and remove the backbone and breastbone. If larger chickens are used, split them in quarters rather than halves.

What are the rules for cooking the chicken? After the fire has burned down to a bed of coals, place the chicken on the grill, skin side up; this seals the cut so juices will not escape and serves as a guide for turning. Turn the chicken every 5 to 10 minutes and baste them thoroughly every time they are turned.

Cook the chicken until it is well done—usually 1 1/2 to 2 hours, depending on the size of the chickens and how hot the fire is. When birds are done, the drumstick will twist out of the thigh easily; any sign of red meat in the joint means the chicken should be cooked longer.

How about the menu? Keep it simple. Use paper plates—and your fingers. With the chicken, you might serve only hard rolls, potato sticks or chips, pickles,

Frenched Ham Sandwiches

Frenched Ham Sandwiches are delicious round-the-clock sandwiches to highlight the menu at breakfast, lunch or dinner.

Attention, all you French toast fans! Here's a new French toast idea. Frenched Ham Sandwiches in these handsome, golden brown sandwiches ham and pineapple team up between the crisp bread slices for an unbeatable flavor combination. Frenched Ham Sandwiches are designed for any-day, any-meal eating. For breakfast, serve them with chilled cantaloupe and milk or coffee. To round out lunch or dinner meals with Frenched Ham Sandwiches, you need only a molded gelatin salad, beverage and sliced fresh peaches with cream for dessert.

Sandwich preparation is simple. Sliced ham and crushed pineapple are arranged between bread slices, and then the whole sandwich is dipped in an egg-milk mixture. The sandwiches are then fried to a luscious golden brown on both sides. A sandwich meal featuring Frenched Ham Sandwiches is tops in nourishment. Enriched bread contains three essential B-vitamins, plus valuable food iron. The egg-milk coating on the sandwiches contributes further nutritional benefits. Tasty sandwich ideas such as this one will be plentiful during August National Sandwich Month.

FRENCHED HAM SANDWICHES

8 slices enriched bread	3 eggs, beaten
Butter or margarine, softened	3 tablespoons milk
4 slices baked or boiled ham	1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup drained crushed pineapple (8-ounce can)	1/4 cup butter or margarine

Spread bread with butter or margarine. Place ham on 4 slices of bread. Spread pineapple over ham. Cover with remaining 4 slices of bread. Combine egg, milk and salt in shallow dish. Dip sandwiches into egg mixture. Melt butter or margarine in skillet and heat gently until bubbly. Fry sandwiches on both sides until lightly browned. Serve hot. Makes 4 sandwiches.

Here's recipe for Kentucky Barbecue Sauce, specially good with chickens

Next time you barbecue chicken, try using Kentucky Barbecue Sauce. Here are the ingredients for the sauce used most often by the UK Poultry Department for barbecuing (and we think it's the one Bob Fike used for those scrumptious chickens at the 4-H Club barbecue last summer):

2 1/2 cups water
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons butter
1/4 onion
1/4 cup vinegar
2 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 bud garlic

1/2 teaspoon red pepper
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce

1 teaspoon powdered mustard
2 teaspoons chili powder
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco sauce
2 1/2 teaspoons black pepper

This amount should be enough for 4 or 5 chickens. More red pepper or Tabasco sauce may be added to make the sauce "hotter," if desired. Bring the sauce to a rolling boil to mix, then let stand overnight to blend flavors. Keep sauce hot while basting chicken.

USE FRESH PEACHES IN PIE OR CAKE

This is the time of the year to serve fresh peaches often. Here are two suggestions for fresh peach desserts:

To make a two-crust peach pie, put sliced fresh peaches, sprinkled with brown sugar, nutmeg, butter and tapioca, in an unbaked pie shell. For extra flavor, sprinkle lemon juice and almond extract over the peaches. Seal the top crust tightly and crimp the edges. Bake about 35 minutes at 425 degrees.

For a fresh peach upside-down cake, sprinkle the bottom of a nine-inch square pan with brown sugar and butter or margarine. Place in a pre-heated oven until butter melts. Arrange sliced fresh peaches in rows, close together, in the brown sugar mixture. Pour yellow or white cake batter over the peaches. Bake according to cake recipe directions. Let the cake stand about 10 minutes. Then turn into serving plate. Serve warm or cold, with whipped cream or ice cream.

olives, celery, carrot sticks or green onions, and bottled soft drinks or milk in half-pint cartons. Most guests would rather have another piece of chicken instead of dessert.

Now's Letcher County's chance to tell the governor what we want and need Letcher Counties will have an easy opportunity to talk with Gov. Bert Combs about our three big desires for the county the last of this month.

The governor is coming to Hazard, where he plans to set up his office for a couple of days and hear from the people of this area themselves what they want, what they need, what they think.

Combs will be in Hazard as part of that town's Coal Carnival. He has been in various parts of Kentucky to set up an office for a few days in an effort to let people get to him who otherwise might not be able to. The office in Hazard is the closest to Whitesburg in the series he has set up so far.

Now is our chance. If we don't show him we are interested now, he will be justified in deciding that Letcher County doesn't care enough about what happens here to come 40 miles to talk to him about it.

We have never thought personally that motorcades were worth much. But recent events have convinced us we've been wrong. The people of Clay County took 200 carloads of people to Frankfort and came away with commitments for a district highway office and a new lake. The people of Cumberland took many cars to Frankfort when A. B. Chandler was governor and literally snatched a University of Kentucky extension center out of the hands of Harlan. Then the Cumberland residents went back again, and talked to Gov. Combs, who later went to them with the commitment for Raven's Rock State Park.

Letcher County has had some eloquent spokesmen in Frankfort, but never have the people of the county gotten together to show the governor they really care what happens here. Now is the time. Three things are pending for Letcher County:

1. The state park on top of Pine Mountain, reaching from the view we all love so well through the game preserve to join Raven's Rock. Recent events convince us we still have more than a good chance to get that park, if we'll indicate we want it.

2. The junior college on the Stuart Robinson School property, which the Presbyterian Church has so generously offered to donate for just that purpose.

3. The road from here to Central Kentucky. Everybody is happy that the turnpike is progressing as well as it is, down closer to the Bluegrass. But we in Letcher County will still have hours and long miles of hard driving to get to the turnpike. We need that road started from this end, both for traffic and for morale of us and our neighbors. We need to ask the governor to let some contracts to start the road going to Lexington as well as coming from it.

We cannot assume that the governor knows we want these things. We're going to have to tell him, and so many of us are going to have to tell him that he'll know for sure that everybody in Letcher County wants them. Archie Craft and Harry Caudill and Fred Coffey and the others who have been to Frankfort can talk themselves blue in the face in our behalf without doing any good if the rest of us don't act like we care what happens too.

We hope leaders in Letcher County during the next week will pick a time, make an appointment with the governor to see him at Hazard and start laying plans for a motorcade to Hazard. We hope every civic club, every church group and every just plain citizen will respond with help when asked. We would like to see representatives from every section of the county, for we all will benefit in any of these proposals become realities. Residents of Jenkins, Neon, Whitesburg, Burdine, Dunham, Seco, Blackey, Letcher, Deane, Ulvah, Partridge, Bolia and all the rest need to join in the effort.

It may be trite to say the wheel that squeaks loudest gets the grease, but it's generally true.

Faith in our future

The story of the outstanding growth of the Royal Crown Bottling Co., Whitesburg, from a two-man operation to a firm with more than 50 employees provides a lot of food for thought when we start talking about Eastern Kentucky and its depressed condition.

We suspect there are many factors in the success of the firm owned by Raymond Collins and Bradley Bentley. Certainly one factor would be the old-fashioned virtue of a willingness to work and pleasure in a job well done. Somehow, Collins and Bentley have inspired their employees to a similar pride in their work, so that the visitor to their plant finds a sense of accomplishment that all too often is missing.

Then, there is the matter of a belief in the product. Collins and Bentley are convinced that theirs is the best product, offering the customer most for his money. Such enthusiasm is contagious.

And, there is the matter of advertising. The firm has made intelligent use of this and other newspapers, and of radio and billboards, with the kind of results that can be obtained only through sustained advertising and promotion.

Basic to their success, however, has been a deep faith in Eastern Kentucky, its people, and its future. This faith in the area has led the firm to expand whenever the opportunity has presented itself. Bentley and Collins currently are making a start on a large addition to their Whitesburg plant, representing an investment of several thousand dollars. They wouldn't do this unless they believed in the county's future.

Collins believes that there is ample opportunity for other residents of Eastern Kentucky to match their success story. He believes someone could make a success of a small cannery, while someone else could succeed with a potato chip plant, or a woodworking plant, or a . . . well, he could name a dozen enterprises for which he believes there would be a good market.

Two men, with a faith in the future of Eastern Kentucky, have built through their own labors a plant supporting 50 families through direct employment, and many others by means of the supplies and purchases made by their firm.

Twenty other men, with an equal faith, could start out just as Collins and Bentley did--as two determined men alone--and build a dozen businesses employing 50 men or more each, and thereby do more for themselves and for Eastern Kentucky than is possible in any other way.

THE EAGLE EYE looks at this and that

Those who complain that Whitesburg's water doesn't taste so good may be interested to know that apparently it depends on how young you are when you start drinking it. Our children went with us out in the country to cover a family reunion. While there, they asked for water and got it from a well--cold and clear as crystal. But each of them very carefully poured the water out after taking a sip. "That water doesn't taste good," they said. We tried it and found it had no taste at all--just good well water with no sulphur in it. The children, however, would have none of it--they liked the tasty water that comes from the faucet at home in Whitesburg.

Help wanted for a worthy project: Cecil Hensley, Letcher County's soil conservation expert, reports several farmers in the county want to start farm drainage projects but have been unable to locate bulldozers and operators to help them out. The drainage is badly needed, and the farmers have the money to pay for the work, Cecil says, but they can't seem to get together with anybody who has a bulldozer for hire. Any bulldozer owners or operators who are interested in helping out may contact Cecil at 2426 in Whitesburg.

Judging by what draws tourists in Pennsylvania, we have a bumper crop of tourist attractions in Letcher County. We received a brochure on a Pennsylvania Dutch festival to be held soon and you'd never guess what one of the things to be displayed is--none other than a one-room school.

We're becoming fashionable in another way, too. The two prestige home decorating magazines--Home Beautiful and House and Garden--have recently carried features showing that the ultimate in convenience now is outdoor toilet facilities, right next to your swimming pool.

A copy of the Congressional Record arrived at The Mountain Eagle a few days ago, and when we looked on the page indicated in red, we found that Sen. John Sherman Cooper had had put into the record a tribute by Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma to Emery Frazier, a Letcher County boy who has made good in Washington (he's clerk of the United States Senate.)

Sen. Cooper himself remarked on Frazier's "fine human qualities and remarkable ability as an officer of the Senate." Here are Kerr's remarks, which appeared in an issue of his Kerr Status, apparently a periodical he publishes:

When the roll is called out yonder, Frazier's there in the middle of it all, "A-l-a-b-a-m-a" booms the distinctive voice of the Senate's Chief Clerk, Emery L. Frazier, during dramatic rollcalls at the Democratic national convention each and every 4 years. He's been polling the States for more conventions than he likes to admit, and a whole generation of radio listeners and TV lookers associate him as a part of the podium proceedings. He's had more television exposures than Howdy Doody and Maverick.

Actually, the Chief Clerk is on a temporary assignment here. He ran the Kentucky Legislation with such skill that a Senator by the name of Barkley asked him to spend a session in Washington. That was in 1933. He's been around ever since handling legislation on the floor, calling rolls, and supervising the complex duties of the other clerks in the Secretary of the Senate's office and overseeing other activities under the Secretary.

Despite his resounding resonance during reading and rollcalls, Emery Frazier is a quiet soft-spoken man who loves to just visit and to work with choice woods. He likes to collect rare or historic timber and make something from it. The stately Senate desks are his primary hobby, and he has compiled a complex history of them all.

Frazier must have been born during an election, for he has been surrounded by politics and the men who practice it all his life. In his old Kentucky home they had bitter elections and if a man couldn't beat an opponent at the polls he'd simply shoot him out of office. It was unsportsmanlike, but effective.

The Chief Clerk is a great conservationist of Senate treasures. He has rescued scores of old objects that might have become kindling. He cherishes ancient Senate records and collects rare books on history. His tastes run to the genuine, the solid, the substantial. He had a field day when the Chamber was remodeled in 1950 and workmen ripped treasured materials from the historic room. Frazier's desk resembled a junior-sized lumber yard. Since the first and last Presiding Officer who used the

CENTER TO PUSH MOUNTAIN CRAFTS OPENS AT JACKSON

JACKSON--A new handicraft center, designed to provide both a wholesale and a retail outlet for handicraft products of the Eastern Kentucky mountain area and to provide training in the traditional handicrafts of the area, has been opened there.

The center, located on the campus of Lees Junior College, will be operated by Kentucky Mountain Crafts, Inc., a non-profit corporation which received a $20,000 grant from the Kentucky Social Welfare Foundation, Louisville, to launch the project. The State's Department of Economic Development, through its Arts and Crafts Division, aided Jackson citizens in organizing the center and will provide continuing advice and assistance in developing the program.

MISS LOUISE GULLADY OF WINCHESTER WEDS WASHINGTON EUGENE FUGATE OF MAYKING

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gullady of Winchester announce the marriage of their daughter, Louise, to Washington Eugene (Bud) Fugate of Mayking.

Mr. Fugate is the son of Elbert and the late Betsey Fugate, lifetime residents of Mayking.

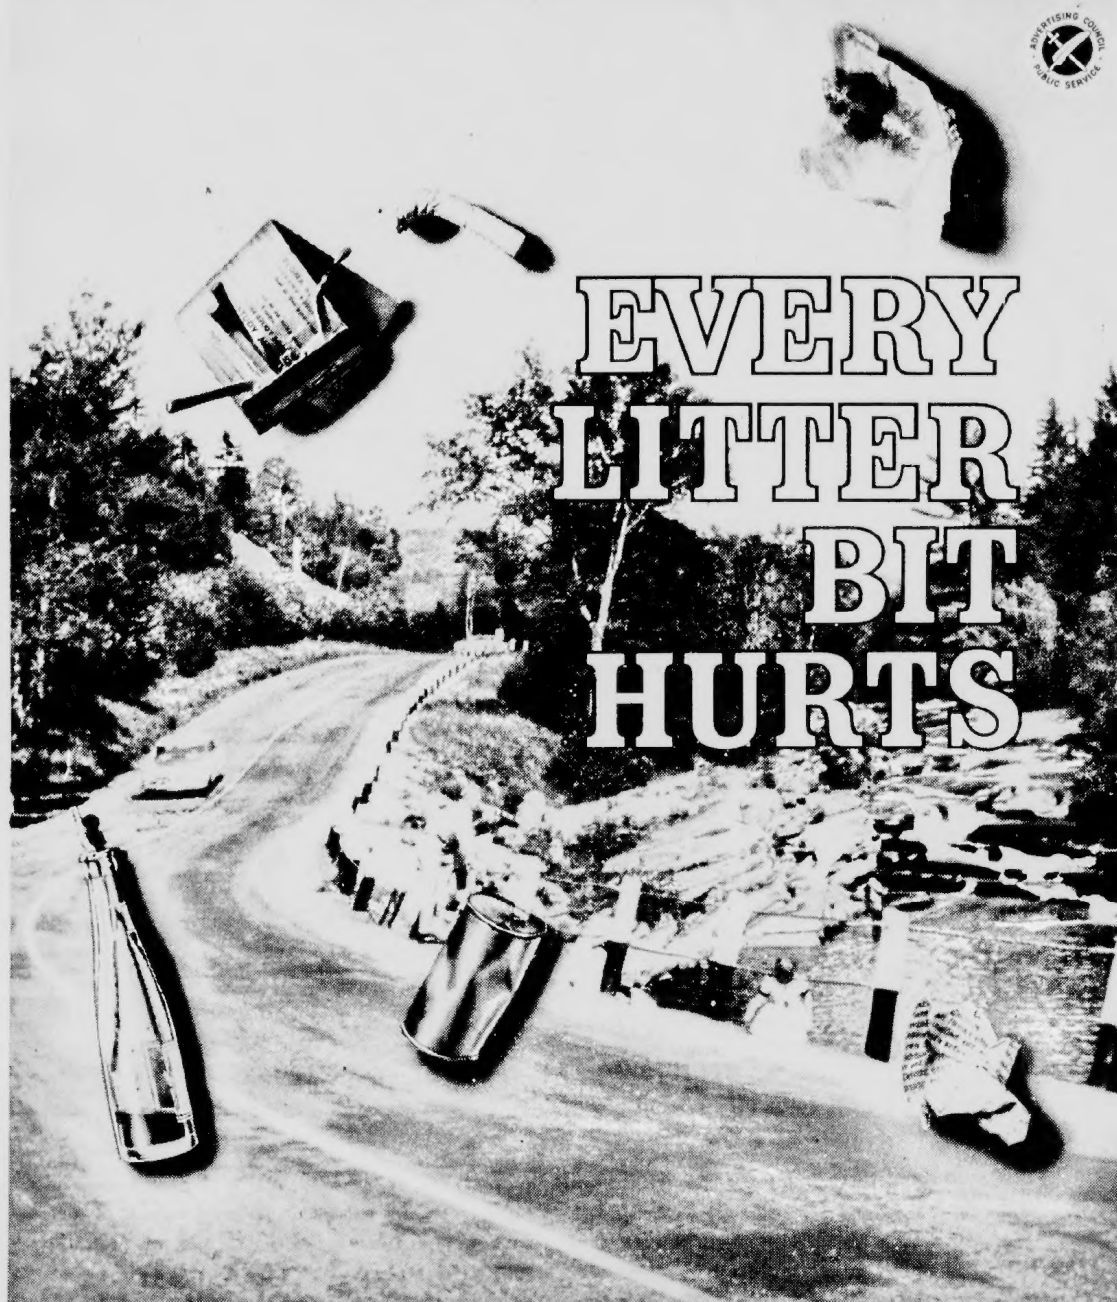

The marriage was performed on July 27, 1961, at Crouches Creek Baptist Church, Jellico, Tenn., by the Rev. Gene Young.

Attendants were Elbert Fugate, Jr., only brother of the bridegroom and his wife, Christine, of London.

The bride wore a beige sheath dress with white accessories. She holds an A.B. degree from Eastern Kentucky State College and has a master's degree in education from the University of Kentucky. Mr. Fugate obtained his A.B. and his master's degree from Eastern Kentucky State College. Both are employed by the Lexington Board of Education. They will make their home in Lexington.

BRIDES-ELECT

Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Pigman announce the engagement of their daughter, Arbadella (Dee) to Windus Dean Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Franklin of Louisville. The wedding will take place at 2:30 p. m., Saturday, Aug. 26. All friends and relatives of the couple are invited. Miss Pigman attended Bowling Green Business University and was a member of Pi Kappa Beta sorority. Mr. Franklin attended the University of Cincinnati and is employed with the Cincinnati Milling Machine Co.

Miss Ina Adams will be married Saturday to Niles Walton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Walton of Aberdeen, Ohio. The engagement is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Adams. The wedding will take place at 2 p. m., at the First Baptist Church. Friends and relatives are invited. A reception will be held at the home of the bride's parents. Miss Adams is a graduate of Whitesburg High School and the University of Kentucky. She has been employed as a teacher here. Mr. Walton is a graduate of Fleming County High School. He has completed four years of service with the Navy and is now attending Morehead State College.

Association to meet

The Whitesburg High School Athletics Association will meet at 7:30 p. m., Wednesday at the high school gym. President Elmer Collins said the meeting is an important one.

LIBRARY NEEDS ITS BOOKS BACK

The Letcher County Public Library is trying to get back more than 100 books which are overdue more than 30 days.

The books are needed before school starts so they can be placed on the bookmobile for countywide circulation. Mrs. Harry Caudill, chairman of the board of directors, said.

The library is starting a policy of mailing reminder cards to borrowers of overdue books and will add the cost of the card to the fine, which is one cent a day.

Research Commission on Higher Education. During the last term of the Legislature he served as chairman of the Revenue and Taxation Committee, vice chairman of the committee on Executive and Legislative Affairs, and as a member of the Committee on Appropriations, Banks and Banking, State and National Parks, Child Welfare and Social Work, Education, Fish and Game, Forestry, Rural Roads and Highways. Over the years he has worked tirelessly for better roads and schools for our section of the state.

During the past year Archie has served on a committee which is trying to secure a college for Letcher County. He has made many trips and attended numerous meetings in the interest of this goal. He worked hard and made many trips and contacts endeavoring to secure a State Park on Pine Mountain and has taken an active interest in securing a Health Center for Letcher County. While none of these are accomplished facts as yet, we feel that through his efforts, and those of his co-workers, the ground work has been laid for the successful conclusion of these programs.

BLACKKEY LIONS SPONSOR CLEAN-UP

The Blackey Lions Club will sponsor an all-day work project Saturday to clean up the Rich Whitaker cemetery on lower Rockhouse between the Twin Bridges on Highway 7.

The cemetery is one of the oldest in the county and members of many prominent families have been buried there. One of the oldest graves is that of James Caudill (1753-1840) a Revolutionary War soldier.

The cleanup is sponsored by the community development committee of the Lions Club, headed by Darrell Hampton, Jeremiah.

Hampton said members of the Lions Club as well as interested members of the public are urged to come early for the cleanup, and bring their families and a picnic basket. Work will start at 9 a. m.

Freshman students at Fleming-Neon High School will register for the 1961-62 school year at 8:30 a. m., next Thursday, Aug. 24, at the school.

Principal Roy Reasor said all freshmen should bring their 8th grade diplomas with them on the registration day.

Sophomores, juniors and seniors will register Monday, Aug. 28.

Buses will make runs on the same schedule as last year on both registration days, Reasor said.

Whitesburg Kindergarten pupils will register from 9 a. m. to 11 a. m., on Saturday, Aug. 26, at the kindergarten room in the Baptist Church.

helpful and he has also worked to secure a new bridge for Whitesburg. Both of these projects are fast becoming a reality as they are now nearing completion.

He is a member of the Graham Memorial Presbyterian Church where he also serves as a Deacon. He is an active member and past president of the Whitesburg Rotary Club. He is a director of the Kentucky Board of Funeral Directors and Embalmers. He also serves as a director of the Bank of Whitesburg. Archie is actively working with the Whitesburg and Letcher County Development Committee in an effort to make Whitesburg and Letcher County a better place in which to live.

Archie's ready wit, his sense of humor, and his kind and generous nature have won him the respect of his fellowmen. His love for people is obvious and has endeared him to many. He indeed has that rare and much needed trait of character known as the "Common Touch" and it is his sincere concern for others that makes it possible to truly say that Whitesburg is a better place in which to live because Archie Craft, Whitesburg's Man of the Year, 1961, has lived here.

JENKINS TEACHERS TO GET RAISE

The Jenkins Board of Education has approved a 1961-62 salary schedule which gives every teacher a $200 a year increase in pay.

The board's action came at its August meeting Monday night.

Supt. of Schools Lee Johnson said the board's action had been requested by the teachers' association.

The board held a quiet session in an eighth-grade classroom, where there was plenty of room for spectators. It did not go into executive session at all during the meeting.

Besides giving the teachers a raise, the board:

1. Elected Eldon Davidson as principal of Jenkins High School.

2. Voted to table an overall plan for renovation of lights and wiring throughout the school system but to proceed immediately with rewiring of the Lower McRoberts School which some board members said was in the worst shape of all.

3. Authorized the chairman and secretary to obtain a loan of $10,000 from the Bank of Whitesburg on anticipated revenue.

4. Approved payment of $11,998 in bills, including a $59.50 travel allowance for the superintendent.

5. Approved the employment of three teachers—Mrs. Joyce Kelly, Mrs. Edna D. Bennett and Thomas D. Craft Sr. (Craft is to teach mathematics in Jenkins High School. Johnson explained he is an emergency teacher but has considerable experience in teaching math. He said Craft is fully capable of teaching the advanced math courses to be offered at the school.

6. Awarded a contract for bus insurance to Jenkins Insurance Agency on a low bid of $505.38.

7. Authorized a raise of $1 a day for substitute teachers from $7 to $8 a day.

8. Heard a request for a bus in No. 15 Hollow at McRoberts and promised to investigate.
